

TOOL RUSH

Given the uncertainty surrounding the Coronavirus and to align with best practices outlined by public health organizations, we have decided to cancel our March 28th Tool Rush Sale.

While a tough choice, the health and safety of our member organizations, community, and volunteers remains our top priority.

Please share this information with anyone who might have planned on attending, and please stay tuned as we will post a new date as soon as one comes available.

For other opportunities to support the Charlotte Community ToolBank, please shop for us on our Amazon Wishlist or make a donation via our website. Your support will provide a requested item to our inventory, allowing us to make more missions possible.
